1893, With which is incorporated THE CHINA DIRECTORY. This is the THURTY-FIRST ANNUAL, ISBUR, and will be found, as usual, to show an advance on proceeding years both in fullness and accuracy

The DIRECTORY covers the whole of the ports and cities of the Far East, from Penang to Iladivostock, in which Europeans reside. Not only is the Directory as full and complete in each case as it can be made, but each Colony, Port, or Settlement is prefaced by a DESCRIP-TION, carefully revised each year, some of which will serve as accurate Guides for the Tourist. giving every detail in connection with the places. their History, Topography, &c., &c. alone would suffice to fill an ordinary volume,

The Information afforded in these Descriptions consisting of over Etcury highly interesting articles, packed with facts concisely set out, and containing statistics of the TRADE of each Country and Port.

HONGKONG, MARCH 16TH, 1893.

THE unaccountable "gush" of our Shanghai contemporaries over the triamplant solution of the vexed question of Imperial the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Sir audience has not unnaturally provoked comments in an opposite sense. The truth of the matter has, we hope, at last been got at. the letters we publish to-day from independent correspondents appearing to fill all the gaps which were left in the previous record. The case was perfectly well stated in the Daily Press of 28th December, and nothing of any consequence has since been added thereto. the first breath of truth. Whoever is responsible for chanting Mr. O'Coxon on this occasion has obviously overshot the mark, so that in the end the Minister will lose rather than gain by the zeal of his friends. There has not been much time to reap practical fruit from the cordial reception which Mr. -O'Conon received from Emperor, but so far as the particulars of his diplomatic campaign during the winter have leaked out there does not appear to be any ground for assuming the position of the British Minister to be actually better than of Hongkong.
